

Juan Andres

Juan Andres will be proposed as an Independent Member of the Lonza Board of Directors at the 2025 Annual General Meeting.

During a career spanning more than 35 years at Eli Lilly, Novartis and Moderna, Juan has held a variety of executive leadership positions with a focus on quality, technical development and manufacturing operations. His deep understanding of the pharma and biotech landscape is complemented by international business expertise, having worked in Puerto Rico, Spain, Switzerland, the UK, and the US. Juan is an Independent Board Member at Avantor.

Juan holds a Master of Pharmacy from Alcala de Henares University (ES) and has completed the Accelerated Development Program at London Business School (UK).

Career

Executive Positions

2017 – 2023	President, Strategic Partnerships and Enterprise Expansion, Moderna
2018 – 2022	Chief Technical Operations and Quality Officer, Moderna
2017 – 2018	SVP Technical Development, Manufacturing and Quality, Moderna
2015 – 2017	Head of Technical Operations, Novartis
2013 – 2015	Head of Global Technical Operations, Novartis
2009 – 2012	Group Head of Quality, Novartis
2007 – 2009	Global Head of Technical Research and Development, Novartis
2005 – 2007	Global Head of Pharmaceutical Operations, Novartis
2002 – 2005	Global Vice President, Pharmaceutical Manufacturing, Eli Lilly & Company
1988 – 2004	Various quality, production and site head roles for Eli Lilly & Company

Non-Executive Positions

2019 – present	Independent Member of the Board of Directors, Avantor
2019 – 2023	Independent Member of the Board of Directors, Evelo Biosciences

Education

- Master of Pharmacy, Alcala de Henares University (ES)
 - Accelerated Development Program, London Business School (UK)
-